

ELECTION NIGHT IN THE BAROSSA IS ALL ABOUT ANOTHER BOLD RED THANKS TO LANGMEIL WINES AND NOVOTEL

Election day may turn out to be a day for red heads if Julia Gillard has her way. But election night is all about a bold Barossa red – Langmeil Wines newly released Valley Floor Shiraz – the signature wine to be served at the Barossa Gourmet Weekend dinner at Novotel Barossa Valley Resort's Harry's Restaurant.

On Saturday 21 August South Australians will vote on our next leader, but Saturday night, Novotel's expert chefs, James Dooley and Ben Riley will combine with the award winning Langmeil Winery to deliver a 5 course, wine matched dinner.

Since moving to the Novotel Barossa Valley Resort some six years ago from Queensland and having worked at various leading hotels and resorts, including Sheraton Mirage and Hayman Island to name a few, Chef James Dooley has taken the resort's Harry's Restaurant to new heights.

Sous chef, Ben Riley joined the Novotel brigade two years ago direct from France. Ben previously worked at Gourmard and Le Beudant, a Michelin Star restaurant on the Champs Elysses in Paris.

James and Ben's successful partnership was acknowledged recently at the Australian Hotels Association (AHA) Awards for Excellence (SA division), when Harry's Restaurant was awarded Best Restaurant – accommodation division.

Langmeil Wines will release the Langmeil Barossa Valley Floor Shiraz 2008 – the first release of this wine which has been matured in oak for 24 months. Langmeil's patience has paid off with the end result being a much softer more structured wine. James Halliday's 2006, 2007, 2008 & 2009 Australian Wine Companion has rated Langmeil Winery five stars, placing it amongst the very top echelon of Australian Wineries.

How much?

The cost is $120 and includes a 4 course degustation menu, a glass of wine from Langmeil with each course and our great service and hospitality!

How do I book?

Contact Harry's Restaurant on 08 8524 0000 – booking and prepayment is essential.

About Novotel Barossa Valley Resort

The premier resort in regional South Australia, Novotel Barossa Valley Resort's 140 rooms, suites and apartments, offer the comforts of home in an ideal getaway. Ipods can be connected directly into the 32 inch LCD TVs, doubling as a personalised stereo and complimentary Foxtel channels provide plenty of viewing to curl up in front of with your wine purchases of the day.

In keeping with the Novotel Barossa Valley Resort's commitment to the environment, all rooms have been installed with energy efficient lighting, water saving shower heads and green certified absorption fridges with no moving parts, ensuring complete silence through the night.

Whilst the rooms provide a comfortable haven, the Novotel Barossa Valley Resort is equipped with an array of outdoor activities. Play a round at the adjoining the 18-hole Tanunda Pines Golf Club, get active on the basketball half-court, badminton and tennis courts, hit the gymnasium, or take a scenic bike ride or bush walk along the Para River. Or for adrenalin junkies, try out the resort's new High Ropes course – the only course of its kind in the Barossa.

For those less inclined to physical activity, the on-site endota Day Spa provides a host of luxurious treatments including their signature red wine bath – an innovative way to enrich the skin with antioxidants.
